1. On 23 November 1949 a group of Huks * under Julian Sandalayan, the personal bodyguard of Governor Feliciano Leviste of Batangas, was occupying the following positions in Batangas:

- (a) Barrio Balayohod, between the towns of Rosario and San Juan.
- (b) Mahahique, in the town of Batangas.
- (c) The trail connecting the village of Lobos with the town of Batangas.

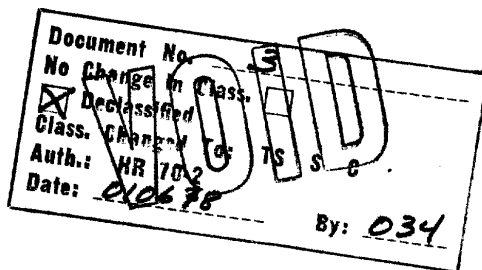

2. A letter sent by Sandalayan to Gregorio Palma, assistant barrio lieutenant of Kobay, Tiaong, Quezon, stated that he must not go to Batangas anymore because "they entered Batangas already". **

25X1A * [REDACTED] Comment. It is believed that the term outlaw would be more accurate here since Huks have been reported as involved only indirectly in the revolt.

25X1X  [REDACTED] Comment. This letter furnishes further evidence that the group entering Batangas on 19 November was composed of men of Governor Leviste and Mayor Uysac of Batangas, Batangas.

25X1A [REDACTED] Comment. This letter, although ambiguous, is reported for its possible value as indicated by source.

This document is hereby regraded to CONFIDENTIAL in accordance with the letter of 16 October 1973 from the Director of Central Intelligence to the Archivist of the United States.
